Channel your inner Audrey in this Tiffany-blue office filled with vintage prints and flirty details. One minute behind that desk and you'll be saying, "Can't you see I'm working, dahling?"

"I wanted pink, but I didn't want to turn off my clients who are male," says designer Mary McDonald, author of Mary McDonald Interiors: The Allure of Style. "So I chose a feminine version of a manly color. It still has a salon feel without screaming, 'No boys allowed!'"

Designer tips!

1 Tear out black-and-white images from thrift store magazines if you don't feel like ponying up for prints. You can barely tell once you frame 'em. 2 Use a glass-top table instead of a clunky desk for a more minimal look—and one that's easy to clean. 3 Add contrast with a few pretty pink accents (but really, just a few). 4 Tall lamps lend a nice sense of drama. Go for fancy, curvy shades like these for even more elegance. 5 Square beverage trays are the perfect place to pile magazines and random mail. Then, take them off the stools and you've got extra seating! 6 Paint bulletin boards and line them with ribbon for cheap custom panels you can use as a spot to hang cards, calendars, and your kids' masterpieces.

Pick a soft color you love, add some pretty accents, and run with it.

Narrow metal lamps add height to the room without blocking your view from behind the desk. 7 Possini Euro Design brushed-nickel rectangle table lamp, $130; lampsplus.com. For a beautiful, tree-trimmed wall, use blue paint as the base and then apply a wall decal. Sure, you could go with a custom painting, like the designer did here, but this is cheaper and waaay easier. 8 Ben Interior Paint in Spring Rain #723, $35.99 per gallon; benjaminmoore.com for stores. 9 Giant Tree with Falling Leaves large wall decal, $109; dalidecals.com. Upholstered chairs make the room feel comfier and more livable. (Just think: a place for you and your friends to hang out. In peace. Alone.) 10 Gramercy upholstered chair in Spa Blue Sunbrella, $379; ballarddesigns.com. Silver vases fancy things up even more, and you can stick pens in them. 11 Grace vase, $29.95; zgallerie.com. This detailed desk chair couldn't be cuter. 12 Pattern bent wood chair, $199; brocadehome.com. Place vintage prints in different-size frames to complete the back wall. We're loving this Audrey portrait, but florals, cityscapes, and family pictures are so much fun too. 13 12x16-inch Breakfast at Tiffany's photographic print, $29.99; art.com; Ribba frame, $14.99; ikea.com. A cushioned stool doubles as an extra table. 14 X-Base stool in cream, $249; wisteria.com. Lacey magnetic boards do the job—and look lovely. 15 Brocade magnetic bulletin board, $39.99; containerstore.com.
