empty nesters: adding a tv room

Home and Market Editor Lisa Freedman and her husband just bought a house two hours outside of New York City. Yay! The only issue? They don't have anything to put in it. Follow her as she shops, tackles some DIY projects and works her decorating magic.

To jazz up the space, we decided to wallpaper an accent wall (I love wallpaper so much, I'd put it on my kitchen cabinets if I could!) with a graphic antler pattern from Chasing Paper. And we made a mini gallery wall with Art.com replicas of some Character Culture Citizenship posters from 1938. We added a small rug from West Elm for color, a table lamp from Z Gallerie, an ottoman from Unison and a few more antiques.
