

I SPY DIY

I have to admit, one of my favorite yearly announcements is the Pantone Color of the Year! I love hearing the trending hue, and see how it works its way into home decor. This year's pick: Greenery. It's an interesting choice for me because I LOVE incorporating plants into everything: styled shoots, room makeovers, DIY projects, but very rarely do I actually use items that are the color green. Art.com challenged me to design a space incorporating the Pantone Color of the Year, so I thought I would give it a whirl, and see if I could come up with something that I loved. Art.com has a ton of fabulous greenery prints on their site, and I fell in love with these plant prints immediately, and thought they would be a perfect trio for an entryway. The plan was to start with black and white pieces and then add a few pops of green decor, and a couple plants including two of my favorites, a fiddle leaf fig tree and a little succulent. I love how it turned out, and am surprised to say, I am a fan of using (a little) Greenery! What do you all think? Will you be adding more green into your decor?

BUY IT NOW: ART Ferns on Black II, Ferns on Black III, Ferns on Black IV PILLOWS Dip Dyed Pillow, White Mudcloth Pillow BENCH High Back Windsor Bench SIDETABLE Natural Tree Stump Side Table RUNNER Target BASKET Two Tone Seagrass Tote VASE Apothecary Vase

Thanks to our sponsor Art.com, the world's leading online destination for discovering and purchasing art.